

American Oak - Satin

American oak timber is known for its distinctive appearance and characteristics. The wood has a warm, golden-brown colour with prominent grain patterns that create a visually appealing and inviting look. American oak is often characterised by its pronounced rays, which contribute to its distinctive appearance. The Satin 2 Pack that is then applied, is the most durable of the finishes we offer. If your item is going to be exposed to moisture in any way, we would recommend selecting this finish option as it seals the timber well and provides some water resistance. For more detailed information regarding how to care for your item with a satin finish, please see our Care and Maintenance page.

Victorian Ash - Raw

Victorian Ash timber is characterised by its pale, creamy colour with a subtle grain pattern that varies from straight to interlocked, giving it a beautiful, natural elegance. It primarily has a straight grain but may also feature fiddleback markings, visible gum lines, small knots and/or insect trails. The timber may also range from a pale straw colour to a slight pink tone to a golden hue. As with all natural materials, Victorian Ash is affected by light and overtime the character and colour will change slightly. Raw finished products are the timber in its natural state. We don't apply any coatings to the timber, rather it is sanded to 240grit creating a very smooth surface to touch. As it is chemical free and environmentally friendly, we often use this finish for nursery products or children's room furniture. We do not recommend selecting a raw finish for items that will be exposed to moisture. For more information regarding how to care for your item with a raw finish, please see our Care and Maintenance page.

Victorian Ash - Satin

Victorian Ash timber is characterised by its pale, creamy colour with a subtle grain pattern that varies from straight to interlocked, giving it a beautiful, natural elegance. It primarily has a straight grain but may also feature fiddleback markings, visible gum lines, small knots and/or insect trails. The timber may also range from a pale straw colour to a slight pink tone to a golden hue. As with all natural materials, Victorian Ash is affected by light and overtime the character and colour will change slightly. The Satin 2 Pack that is then applied, is the most durable of the finishes we offer. If your item is going to be exposed to moisture in any way, we would recommend selecting this finish option as it seals the timber well and provides some water resistance. For more detailed information regarding how to care for your item with a satin finish, please see our Care and Maintenance page.

Feature Victorian Ash - Satin

Each Feature Grade Victorian Ash piece boasts its own distinctive character, thanks to the natural features of this locally sourced timber. The intricate gum vein lines, knots, fiddleback markings, small cracks, and colour variations accentuate the individuality of every piece, making them truly one-of-a-kind. The Satin 2 Pack that is then applied, is the most durable of the finishes we offer. If your item is going to be exposed to moisture in any way, we would recommend selecting this finish option as it seals the timber well and provides some water resistance. For more detailed information regarding how to care for your item with a satin finish, please see our Care and Maintenance page.

Victorian Ash timber chosen for pieces finished with the Hardwax Oil in Rich Brown have a good deal of natural timber characteristics. There will be variation from subtle grain patterns, through to knots, fiddleback markings, visible gum vein lines and small cracks etc. It is then prepared for the Hardwax Oil that not only protects the timber but changes the colour of the timber to a rich brown colour. The Hardwax Oil that we use is a high-quality, plant-based, 0%VOC that is hand rubbed over your product. It provides a durable finish to the timber and also leaves it with a natural feel to the touch. It uses advanced molecular bonding to protect wood from water, heat and daily wear & tear. For more detailed information regarding how to care for your item with a Hardwax oil finish, please see our Care and Maintenance page.

Victorian Ash - Hardwax Oil Rich Brown

Victorian Ash timber is characterised by its pale, creamy colour with a subtle grain pattern that varies from straight to interlocked, giving it a beautiful, natural elegance. The colour tones can vary from a pale pink through to a yellowish brown. It primarily has a straight grain but may also feature fiddleback markings and visible gum lines. Pieces in this range may also include knots, small cracks and colour variation, which makes each piece entirely unique. We then apply Gilly's Australia Food-safe natural oil. It is 100% plant-based and food-safe, contains no silicone and has a lovely citrus scent. For more detailed information regarding how to care for your item with a food-safe oil finish, please see our Care and Maintenance page.

Victorian Ash - Food Safe Natural Oil

Walnut timber is known for its distinctive rich, chocolatey brown hue. The wood displays a lustrous grain pattern, often featuring swirls, burls, and straight lines that add depth and character to the finished product. Its medium texture and moderate natural luster combined with its durability, strength, and resistance to warping, make it well-suited for crafting high-quality furniture that can withstand the test of time. Satin 2 Pack is the most durable of the finishes we offer. If your item is going to be exposed to moisture in any way, we would recommend selecting this finish option as it seals the timber well and provides some water resistance. For more detailed information regarding how to care for your Walnut item with a satin finish, please see our Care and Maintenance page.

Walnut - Satin

Redgum timber is known for its stunning deep red to reddish-brown color with distinctive dark streaks and an attractive, pronounced grain pattern. The timber has a medium to coarse texture with a natural luster that adds to its visual appeal. We finish our Redgum products with Gilly's Australia High-Quality all natural food-safe oil. It is 100% plant-based and food-safe, contains no silicone and has a lovely citrus scent. For more detailed information regarding how to care for your Redgum item with a food-safe oil finish, please see our Care and Maintenance page.

Redgum - Food Safe Natural Oil